People couldn't get enough of it and by 1978 the first Costa espresso bar opened in Vauxhall Bridge Road in London. To this day they still use the same method of slow-roasting the coffee beans, serving the brothers' authentic blend of 6 Arabica beans to 1 Robusta in 500 coffee shops all over the world. To serve the best coffee in the true Italian style, they focus on quality control at every stage of the coffee making process from bean to cup. Unlike any other coffee company in the UK, they have their own roastery to ensure their unique blend is perfect every time.
