

Family camping that's got it licked

Have yourself an ice-cream getaway with a wild camping experience for families that's on offer this summer at a dairy farm near Derby.

Bluebell Dairy has made a name for itself thanks to its award-winning artisan ice cream, made in the same way as the Italians, but with a British twist, and also boasts a popular tearoom, children's play park and 'Animal Patch' meet and feed experience.

Scooping a host of awards, including beating the Italians at ice cream making at The Italian Gelato Festival, the Dairy is now offering camping with a twist. The Brown family, who have been milking their herd of cows at Brunswood Farm since 1953, diversified into ice cream making in 2008, and today make 26 flavours of ice creams and sorbet, served in the farm's own tearooms and stocked across the region.

A family-only weekend getaway will include one or two nights camping on the farm (tents only), farm cooked breakfast and dinner, fresh milk from the Bluebell herd, ice cream sundae sessions, entry to the farm and animal activities on the farm.

Scheduled to run on selected weekends 28th May - 22nd August 2021 at the farm, set in countryside just three miles from Derby city centre, the 'Ice Cream Getaways' camping breaks include 10m x 10m grass pitches for tents to include social distancing from other pitches.
