What's more, from Tuesday 18th May, Derbion is set to host an exhibition titled COLLABORATION > CONTROL, as part of the city's FORMAT21 Festival, in association with the University of Derby.

To ensure the safety of shoppers and staff, Derbion continues to implement a number of safety and hygiene measures. Visitor numbers will also be managed and capacity will be monitored to ensure that visitors can adhere to social distancing.

Adam Tamsett, general manager at Derbion, commented: "We're delighted that we will finally be able to fully reopen our centre under its new name for the first time. Visitors to Derbion can browse our collection of fashion stores, or enjoy a round of golf or bowling at our much-loved leisure attractions before sitting down to enjoy a delicious meal at one of our brilliant restaurants, all under one roof.

"We're also excited to announce that Tommy Hilfiger will open a new store at Derbion next month, bringing its range of premium men's and womenswear to the centre. Our team is continually working with new and existing retailers to bring exciting brands to the city and we look forward to announcing more new arrivals soon."
